

Edward V. Andrews, Jr.
Vice President of Operations

Edward V. Andrews career spans over 43 years as an employee of NES. He is Vice President of Power System Operations with responsibility for the monitoring and control of NES power grid, substation construction, all underground facilities, dispatching, disconnect/reconnect and metering functions.

Mr. Andrews previously served as Operations Manager of System Operations, Meter Services Manager, and Supervisor of the Technical Support Group of Meter Services. For 20 years he worked in the utilities System Control Section as a Control Technician, Senior Control Technician, Engineer II, and Engineer III. He began with the utility as a Junior Clerk delivering interoffice mail.

Edward received an AS degree in Electrical Engineering Technology from Nashville State Technical Institute, a BS degree in Engineering (Electrical) from the University of Tennessee – Nashville, and a MBA in Management from Kennedy-Western University.